The Alexis Quartette gives a varied program consisting of quartette songs in English and Swedish, readings, vocal solos and duets, bedside selections on the piano, pipe organ and flute.

The Manistee Daily News, Manistee, Mich.: "It is indeed rare that four brothers are found to possess such versatility, together with ensemble. Although this is the second appearance of the Alexis Quartette in Manistee, a third concert would, no doubt, be heartily appreciated, for each time their program is new and varied."

The Gowrie News, Gowrie, Iowa: "The Alexis Quartette will be remembered by those who had the pleasure of hearing them as a talented brotherhood, standing for whatsoever is pure and noble, and as such we wish them prosperity and success."

The Galva Standard, Galva, Ill.: "The Alexis Quartette gave a very pleasing entertainment at the Lutheran church last Wednesday evening to a large and appreciative audience."

The DeKalb Chronicle, DeKalb, Ill.: "It may be said to the credit of the Alexis brothers that the concert they give is of a high order, classic for those who desire that, and popular enough to satisfy all."

The Monmouth Daily Review, Monmouth, Ill.: "One of the most pleasing entertainments that has ever been given at the Swedish Lutheran church was that given there last night by the Alexis Brothers Quartette. The church was packed to the limit, and many were standing. Each number was received with rounds of applause, which brought several encores."

The Burlington Hawkeye, Burlington, Iowa: "A very enjoyable concert was given last night by the Alexis Male Quartette, of Lincoln, Neb. Their voices blend especially well, and the double number, 'Sunday Morning' by Alexis (a composition of their own) and 'Memories of Gallie', deserve special mention. Other enjoyable features were the pipe organ solos by Prof. Gerhard Alexis, which demonstrated him to be a master at the organ. The readings of Prof. Joseph Alexis were also excellent. It is hoped the quartette can be secured for a return engagement."

The Rockford Morning Star, Rockford, Ill.: "On Friday night a large audience gathered to hear the Alexis Quartet, four popular young soloists from Nebraska. The program was varied and exceedingly interesting. Rev. Hemdahl and members of the church unite in voicing a hope that next season will see the return of the quartette."

The Stanton Call, Stanton, Iowa: "The four brothers gave a varied and pleasing program. Although applause in the church is tabooed, the waving of programs is not, and by doing that the audience secured an encore for every number given."

The DuBois Daily Express, DuBois, Pa.: "A very delightful concert was given by the Alexis Male Quartette."

The Elmira Telegram, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.: "A very interesting concert was given Monday night in which the Alexis Male Quartette, all the way from Nebraska, amused, enlightened, and instructed. The edifice was well filled, and the four brothers made a hit with those present."

Scandia, Jamestown, N. Y.: "Alexiskvartetten gaf en präktig konsert i Första Luth. församlingens kyrka under auspiciér af Lincoln's bibelklass."
